

How to make a Moneybox

Save your pennies in a personalised moneybox.

You Will Need

milk tin/ crisps tube/ any container with a removable plastic lid sharp knife
self-adhesive vinyl scissors

To get some self-adhesive vinyl, you will need to go to a sign making shop. If you ask nicely, they should let you have a few of the off-cuts left over from making vinyl lettering (which would probably only end up in the bin otherwise). It's a great material; lovely bright colour, which can be cut with scissors, sticks to virtually anything and can be wiped clean.

Instructions

1. First of all, an adult will need to cut a money slot out of the plastic lid using a sharp knife. Cut a small rectangle in the middle of the lid, big enough to fit all the different shaped coins through.
2. Using scissors, cut shapes out of the self-adhesive vinyl.
3. Peel the paper backing off of the vinyl to get the sticky surface. Have fun overlapping your shapes to make a pattern on the tin/ tube/ container.
4. Put the plastic lid back on top of the tin/ tube/ container, and you now have a useful new moneybox.
